NARRATORS DREAM COMES TO AN END

SEANNÓS ÁRD UÍ CHUAIN (Quiet Land of Erin)

CRÍOCHCHEOL (finale) – The story and session come to an explosive end, but the games lives on...

“When you enter Croke Park, you are not stepping into a story that lies dusty on a shelf waiting to be read. You are entering the action of a living story, an electric arena that breaths fire and passion, powerfully staging the drama of dreams where ordinary men and women strive to be champions for club and county. Revered by their congregation, they battle to lift the chalice of victory, the holy grail of the GAA, in this, the great Cathedral of Sport. Cuisle Croke Park is the vibrant and relentless spirit of the people who fill it; the patrons, volunteers and revolutionaries of the sport; the insatiable dedication of players who never want the dream to end. Cuisle Croke Park is the thriving pulse of the GAA where the pages of history never stop turning and the resounding voice of the game always speaks to the heart and soul of anyone and everyone who listens.”
